

CHAUTAUQUA TO BE HERE APR. 21

The first announcement of the 1929 Chautauqua program for El Paso indicates that the attractions to be presented are of the same standard which has characterized El Paso Chautauqua in the past. The Chautauqua dates for El Paso are April 21-27.

A lecture event of unusual importance is announced in the coming of Stenstrom, the noted arctic explorer and discoverer of the "blonde Eskimo." He brings a remarkable illustrated lecture on his explorations in the Polar area.

Other lectures of prominence are: C. H. Poole, member of parliament from New Zealand; Judge Fred G. Hale, of Ohio; Carlton Chamberlain, editor of New York; Julius Caesar Napier, a young Athenian with a spectacular continued lecture on the subject of "The Roman Empire," for 14 years on exploration work in North America; and E. H. Pina, the famed fow of athletes in the north-west.

A feature attraction which varies from the regular line of Chautauqua events is the production of the New York dramatic ensemble, "Klondike," by the Maurice Browne Players, on the fifth night.

The music gives promise of an interesting week. Mary Adel Hays, the New York soprano, whom Ellison White brought to the south and west in 1918, is to return again. This year she comes as soloist with Raul Pereira, the Portuguese violinist, and his string quintet. An outstanding musical event rests in the announcement of "The Royal Welsh Lull Singers," of Wales.

On the second day a native Alaskan girl, who has set the musical world talking, is presented in the person of Lona Iakia, a member of the Alaska Day. The carnival is an other musical community coming with fine recommendations.

Hurry! Let "Dandine" save your hair and double its beauty.

To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a small bottle of delightful "Dandine" at any drug or toilet counter for a few cents, pour a little in your hand and rub into the scalp. After several applications the hair usually stops coming out and you can't find any dandruff. Help your hair grow long, thick and strong and become soft, glossy and abundant—Adv.

Father and His Family Show To Large Audiences

"Bringing Up Father" drew four large audiences in El Paso at the Crawford theater Saturday and Sunday. Every seat was sold for each performance, demonstrating the popularity of the famous Herald comic feature.

The show is a re-creation of music and mirth in which Jiggs and Maggie are the principal figures, with Dinty Moore and the daughter playing prominent roles throughout. Jiggs had the usual trouble getting away from Maggie or "getting away with" what he tried to do under her watchful eyes.

There were a number of song selections, in which the chorus was much in evidence with frequent changes of costume and the quartet singing by Maggie, the count, the daughter and the youthful lover of the daughter—Miss Josephine Sabel. Miss May Walsh, Fred Roberts and Al Knight—was especially good. Miss Sabel's solo number was also a big hit with the audience and, despite her avowed role, she was very active.

There was much better looking than in the past. In the past, the chorus was much in evidence with frequent changes of costume and the quartet singing by Maggie, the count, the daughter and the youthful lover of the daughter—Miss Josephine Sabel.

Old Kentucky
An Excellent
Stewart Film

Beautiful women, fast horses, elaborate settings, lots of action and exquisite outdoor settings are the high spots in Anita Stewart's picture, "In Old Kentucky," being shown at the El Paso theater.

Miss Stewart is at her best throughout the picture. She rides (really rides, too) in real jockey fashion. She does to do almost anything from jumping with her horse over a gap in a bridge, and riding a horse in a race at breakneck speed, to doing—well, everything she does is full of danger. You must see it to realize how exciting it is.

The plot is a good one, although it isn't entirely new. It seems to be a combination of events familiar to one having seen "Mickey" and "Heart of the Hills." However, it is more likely that "Mickey" and "Heart of the Hills" were stolen from material from the book "In Old Kentucky."

The simplicity of the little girl of the mountains represented by Miss Stewart, in a delightful way, has a wonderful appeal. Her trust and her loyalty and courage in the part make it delightful.

True Kentucky hospitality is pictured in every scene. Exquisite hall room scenes showing beautiful Kentucky women in costume; exciting horse races in which the spectators share in the thrills of the riders and night riders riding wildly after "the villain," are some of the features of the production.

The whole thing is a treat. Of course, some skeptical people criticize it because they maintain it is too much like many other pictures they have seen, but what if it is? It is at least better than any of the pictures like it you may have seen.

PORT BLISS MUSIC.

The following music is to be played by the El Paso orchestra at grand mount, Tuesday, at Port Bliss at 11:35 a. m.

March, "On the Hike."
Waltz, "One, Two, Three, Four."
March, "How Many Heroes Were in France."
March, "World's Pan-American Exposition."

Weighted 668, Trained Down To A Mere 440
Atlantic City, N. J., March 8.—Smory Tutman used to be a fat man; in fact he was so fat that when he got into a little difficulty with the law in New York it was impossible to find a cell big enough to accommodate him; but now he weighs a mere 440 pounds, which is trifling compared with his former figure of 668. Smory says the secret of reduction is simple. He affixed his present severe proportion by means of a few months' work in a Turkish bath and is willing to bet he will be down to 440 by July 1. Physicians say that the loss of 224 pounds since last fall has not affected Tutman's health in the least.

ROME OF WALLER BURNS
AT 4226 MANCHESTER ST.
The home of R. Waller, 4226 Manchester street, was destroyed by fire originating from a defective fuse, at 3 o'clock Sunday morning. Firemen answered an alarm, although the residence was without the city limits. Before they received the alarm, however, the flames had gained too much headway to be controlled. The family were unable to save it. They devoted their time to preventing the flames from reaching surrounding buildings.

SCIENTISTS OF NOTE VISIT HERE

The lecture on Wednesday at the chamber of commerce building by Dr. D. T. MacDougal is an event that is being looked forward to by El Paso scientists with much pleasure.

As we are in the middle of a great desert region we should be interested in hearing Dr. MacDougal lecture on desert studies. Dr. MacDougal is a specialist in this field for many years and is director of the Carnegie desert laboratory at the Carnegie library here.

After the lecture Dr. MacDougal will enroll members for the southwestern division of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. This was authorized by the officers of the association at the recent meeting at the Carnegie library here.

Dr. MacDougal will be accompanied by Dr. A. E. Douglass, dean of the school of science at the University of New Mexico, and other New Mexico scientists, in Albuquerque for the purpose of organizing the division in New Mexico. Dr. MacDougal will also deliver his lecture there.

Both Are Able Men.
A short sketch of these men will probably interest those who will attend the lecture and meet them.

Dr. D. T. MacDougal—Degree of Bachelor of Science at Delaware University in 1908. Master of Arts in 1909; Doctor of Philosophy in 1917; study abroad in 1917-18; U. S. of Paris in 1918, and also at the University of Arizona in 1918; director of laboratory of the New York Botanical garden, 1919 to 1924; assistant director of New York Botanical garden since 1924; director of department of botanical research of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, D. C. since 1924; president of the American Society of Naturalists in 1918; author of many valuable works on botany.

Dr. A. E. Douglass—Bachelor of Arts at Trinity College, Conn., 1909; Doctor of Science 1908; president of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, D. C. since 1924; professor of physics and astronomy at the University of Arizona since 1926; dean of the College of Letters, Arts and Sciences, University of Arizona, since 1928.

Dr. Douglass has consented to deliver a lecture on astronomy here in May.

Lockett Confesses To Murder Of Two Women; May Admit Two Others
Edwardsville, Ky., March 8.—Will Lockett, ex-convict of Geneva, Ky., 19 years old and central figure in the riots at Lexington, February 22, confessed to the murder of two persons, the probable murder of a third and another frustrated attempt. All of his victims were women.

Lockett confessed that he fled from his home in Pembroke, Ky., in 1909 and was with a woman in an attempt to assault a white woman on a farm. Lockett is condemned to die in the electric chair here March 11 for the murder of the little Harlan girl.

THE GLOBE

Versatile Parson Is Also A Tonsorialist

Middletown, Conn., March 8.—If you happen to be near Roast Beef Hill, step in and see the Rev. George B. Gilbert, an Episcopal missionary, who numbers hair-cutting among his accomplishments, which include preaching, farming, wood chopping, auto repairing and numerous others.

Tempering the wind to the lack of a shorn lamb is nothing to sneering at the lodge of a country school class, he says, and they look a lot handsomer after the job.

Mr. Gilbert learned to cut hair down on a Vermont farm. On winter evenings, after feeding the horses and chopping wood, he performed the friendly office for neighbors.

Snow and preteaching barbers mean nothing in the young life of Roast Beef Hill, for Mr. Gilbert doesn't charge a cent. He drives about the country in his sleigh and takes pride in doing a good job.

Scared Dog Sets Pace For A Subway Train

New York, N. Y., March 8.—A small fox terrier that either had jumped or fallen from the platform at the Chambers street station caused traffic to slow up in the Seventh avenue subway. Frightened at the approach of a local train, the dog ran ahead. The motorman didn't want to run the animal down and so the train, laden with millions of people, went along at a snail's pace. When last seen the terrier was still heading north out of the Pennsylvania station.
